Township And Village Unite In 'Share Of Square' Drive

WILLIAMSPORT 'SHARE OF THE SQUARE' — The village of Williamsport and Deercreek Township are accepting donations towards the future site of the Community Square. The land, being sold by the Westfall Board of Education, has a price tag of $20,000. In this picture township trustee

Eugene Schleich, left, and Mayor Paul Long watch as James Fosnaugh, right, presents a check to Mrs. Marjorie Horch for $1,000. It is a donation from the First National Bank, Williamsport Branch, presented to the Community Square, Inc., in which Mrs. Horch is chairman.

Currently in Williamsport, a campaign is underway to purchase the old school grounds situated in the center of the village.

The Westfall Board of Education has offered the Village and Deercreek Twp. first option on purchasing the land, at a selling price of $20,000. The offer was accepted, a steering committee was formed and currently this group is canvassing the township to collect the needed funds.

To reach the selling price tag, the Community Square, Inc. group are selling "Shares of the Square" for $10. Chairman Mrs. Marcia Horch said that although this is the price of a square, the group has collected "a couple $500 donations, and quite a few for $100."

No Primary In City, But Candidates Set For November Fight

There will be no primary election in Circleville this year, but three hotly-contested races should live interest in the November general election.

A preferential primary election for city government positions would have been held if candidates from the same party would have placed their names for the same offices.

Elections will be held June 7 in the Teays Valley School District, where voters will decide the fate of a bond issue, and in the Logan Elm School District, where a tax levy has been placed on the ballot.

Candidates who met the Thursday filing deadline will have their names placed on the November ballot along with candidates for village council and boards of public affairs seats, township trustees, and members of boards of education in the city and county.

The hottest race in November should be for the three vacant councilman-at-large seats. Two incumbent Republicans, Glen Stephen Jones and Tommy M. Wells, will be joined by a third Republican candidate, J. Bruce Bell, a political newcomer.

The three Democrats vying for the positions are Donald L. Greeno, Charles D. Caudill, and Robert W. Bensonhaver.

Other contested races have developed for council chairs in the first and fourth wards.

In the first ward, Burl E. Wiggins, a Democrat, and Elaine Lindsey, an

Measure Pushes Turns On Red

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By a vote of 81-3, the House sent the Senate on Thursday a measure permitting motorists to make left turns on red from one way streets into one way streets, after stopping.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Norman A. Murock, R-21 Cincinnati, said it makes "as much sense" to him to permit left turns after yielding as it does to permit right turns, as the legislature authorized in July 1975.

Murock's measure contains the same provision as one in the right turn law which permits communities to post signs prohibiting such turns at intersections where they would be considered unsafe.

Common Mart Meet Marred By Dispute

ROME (AP) — The European Common Market's 20th birthday party today was marred by a row because the smaller members haven't been invited to President Carter's first summit conference.

The Dutch were threatening to walk out of the meeting after opening ceremonies because the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark and Ireland will not be represented at Carter's meeting in London in May with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and the prime ministers of Britain, West Germany, Italy, Canada and Japan.

Belgium planned to submit a protest on behalf of the five smaller members of the nine-nation European Economic Community demanding that they be represented at the meeting by the president of the EEC commission, Roy Jenkins.

Giscard d'Estaing, who originated the idea of getting the leaders of the major non-Communist industrial nations together to talk about economic problems, is opposed to participation of a Common Market representative because he, unlike the presidents and prime ministers, would not be empowered to join in decisions binding on the five governments he would represent.

In addition to the anniversary ceremony, the Common Market meeting today was expected to discuss the community's economic and monetary problems, its relations with the Carter administration and the Soviet Union, and the Belgrade meeting in June to assess compliance with the 1975 Helsinki accords on European security and human rights.

The most current donation, and the largest one to date is from the First National Bank, Williamsport Branch. Vice President James H. Fosnaugh presented the steering committee with a check for $1,000. With this donation, the total is boosted to $7,500.

While presenting the donation, Fosnaugh said he "hopes the people of the county have an open heart" when asked to contribute to the community square.

Deadline for collection of the purchase price is May 1. Mrs. Horch and the rest of the committee, consisting of Charles Galloway, Glenn Whitten, Shirley Bowser and Jerry Wilt, have intensified their efforts for the remainder of the period.

On Sunday, groups have been selected to canvas the village and township with a door-to-door campaign to raise the funds. Letters have been sent to alumni of the Williamsport area for their support and donations to the square.

Mrs. Horch said that donations of any size will be accepted. "Many times, people can't afford to give a full $10, but credit is given to the person no matter what size the donation is."

Each donor is given a certificate with "Share of the Square" across the top, and the amount of the donation filled in below.

The Community Square, Inc., has been working on the campaign since fall under every "conceivable crisis," according to Mrs. Horch. They were up against terrible weather conditions and the high gas bills, which has slowed down the collection of money.

The steering committee, an incorporated group, was appointed by Deercreek Township Trustees and the Williamsport Village Council.

The school land, consisting of almost four acres, is located directly off of U.S. Highway 22. Although the school building has been torn down, the gymnasium is still situated on the back part of the land.

If funds are collected for the property, the land will be used for numerous village and township activities. Although plans are not finalized, it is possible to use it as a picnic area, ball diamond, tennis court and for various other outdoor activities.

Because the building has an open floor, it would generally be used for public meetings. Mrs. Horch said once it is repaired, heated and cleaned it should be self supporting. Rent collected for such activities as basketball games would be the main source of income.

When the school building was on the property, it was used for all grades until 1964, when the last class graduated from the high school. Until 1971, the school was used for students in kindergarten through the sixth grade. Now, Williamsport grade school students attend Jackson School.

Weather

A slow-moving high pressure ridge over the Mississippi Valley will guarantee fair weather in Central Ohio for several days. The temperature today should be in the mid 40s under sunny skies, while it will be clear tonight with a low near 35, and sunny Saturday with a high near 55. There is no chance of rain. The high temperature Thursday was 45, while the low last night was 23.

President Outlines Arms Talk Stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has outlined a negotiating strategy for nuclear arms talks that calls for a major reduction in weapons levels, but sets out a "fallback" position of far less ambition.

"For a change," Carter told a news conference Thursday, the United States will seek "actual substantial reductions" in the number of nuclear weapons held by the United States and the Soviet Union.

This represents a major change from past agreements, which set a ceiling of 2,400 missile launchers for each side with the remaining questions dealing with the types of weapons to be included.

In his news conference, the President also said:

—That inflation this year is likely to hit 6 per cent "or a little better" and that he plans to send Congress a strong "antiinflation package within two weeks."

—That he would "aggressively move to admit Vietnam to the United Nations and normalize relations" with Hanoi if Vietnam acts in good faith to account for Americans still listed as missing in action.

—That the United States has "no outstanding commitments in Zaire" and that "we have no hard evidence or any evidence that Angolans or Cubans have crossed the border into Zaire."

Carter said Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance is leaving for Moscow tonight with an agenda ranging from Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT) talks to demilitarizing the Indian Ocean.

But indications are that the nuclear arms question dominates the secretary's mission, the first U.S. attempt to move the SALT talks since the two sides deadlocked last year.

Carter did not disclose what cuts Vance will propose, but Paul Warnke, chief U.S. SALT negotiator, told The Associated Press in an interview that the President "is prepared to go pretty far."

Other officials indicated Carter might propose a reduction for both countries to about 1,800 missile launchers and bombers. The current count shows the United States holding some 2,320 missile launchers and strategic bombers and the Russians about 2,660.

Such a reduction would require a greater percentage cut for Moscow than the United States. Congress has mandated that any new agreement must be based on equality, but the Soviet Union has indicated it opposes such an approach.

If the Carter approach fails, he told his news conference, his "fallback position" will be to seek ratification of an agreement reached in principle during 1974 setting ceilings of 2,400 launchers, of which 1,320 could carry multiple warheads.

But even that fallback solution is uncertain because it entails setting aside for later negotiations the problems that have blocked a new SALT treaty. Those problems are how to deal with the new American Cruise missile and the Soviet Backfire bomber, neither of which are now counted in the limits.

The Russians have insisted that the Cruise be included in any new agreement, and the United States has made the same demand regarding the bomber.

Utilities Fight Service Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio utilities have testified unanimously that a Senate bill making it tougher for them to shut off delinquent accounts is unnecessary and would be costly both for taxpayers and utility customers.

Howard Smith, representing Columbia Gas of Ohio, Thursday was the last witness to testify before the Senate Energy and Public Utilities Committee in opposition to the proposed bill.

ROUNDTOWN

AREA Scouts will present their skills and exhibits Saturday from 12 noon to 5 p.m. at the 4-H and Grange Building on the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Visitors will be able to see model cars race down a 20 foot incline in the District Pinewood Derby. Other items include dancing by the Order of the Arrow and exhibits of camping, hiking, and pioneering projects.

CIRCLEVILLE Police Chief Robert Temple today asked for people to think before using their CB radios. Temple said that non-emergency traffic has been heard more and more frequently on Channel 9. Channel 9 is the emergency channel that law enforcement agencies across the state monitor for early warning of disasters or emergencies. Temple said that quite a bit of the traffic on the Channel has been children. He asked that all parents instruct their children on the proper use of the CB radio and Channel 9. A CB radio can be a lot of fun, but it can also be an invaluable tool in an emergency situation.

Smith, manager of office operations for Columbia, criticized the measure on the grounds it would place too much power over utilities' cash flow in the hands of welfare departments.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Timothy McCormack, D-31 Euclid, sets three conditions that must be met before a utility may terminate service.

First, the bill must be at least 30 days past due. Second the utility must pay a visit to the home of the delinquent customer. Third, and this is where most of the utility complaints fall, the county welfare department must study the case and report in writing about the hardship a shutoff would cause to the family.

"...Columbia could be submitting up to 1,140 accounts each working day to the county welfare departments. It should also be kept in mind Columbia represents only one gas utility company. With all other gas and, or electric companies serving Ohio also submitting accounts the daily figure would become completely unmanageable unless county welfare staffs and budgets were substantially increased. I would guess the additional number of welfare employees required would be in the hundreds and the cost to the taxpayers in the millions of dollars," Smith said.

In addition to the cost to the taxpayer, Smith made the same argument put forward by his counterparts, saying the company's additional cost in bad debt writeoffs would be passed on to paying customers.

Meanwhile most of Ohio's gas utilities are reporting nonpaying accounts well above normal as a result, they say, of a Public Utilities Commission of Ohio ruling earlier this year that prohibited service termination for any reason until the end of the winter heating season. That arrives April 1 for most utility customers except in East Ohio Gas territory where the winter season ended last Sunday.

East Ohio has reported it is sending out about 50,000 notices to delinquent customers warning of impending shutoffs. The company said disconnect notices will be in the mail Monday to those who haven't paid.

Columbia Gas says it has no figures on the number of delinquencies but estimates they are up.

"Right now we have no true feel for the exact numbers whatsoever," William Chaddock of Columbia said.

Dayton Power & Light Co., which has been having trouble getting meters read because of a strike, claims its delinquent accounts are up by 15 per cent. That means, the company says, 60,000 to 70,000 customers will be getting notices after April 1.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co., like Columbia, claims figures are not available. That company, however, says it is not even sure if the trend is upward compared to last year.

On Books And Activities At The Library

What has a quiet nook with comfortable chairs, current magazines, daily newspapers, and lots of new books? If you guessed the Pickaway County District Public Library, you're absolutely right! Stop by the next time you're at the corner of Pickaway and Main and enjoy our new browsing area.

Donald E. Westlake's novels are written with imagination, flair and unpredictability. His latest, "Enough", gives his fans two humorous stories for the price of one. This pair of miniatures is a study in contrasts.

Romantic suspense is at its best when done by Anne Maybury. "Dark Star" is set in the Scottish Isles and will keep the most ardent suspense fan interested until the end.

"17 Ben Gurion" by Jack Hoffenberg is an explosive novel of suspense and adventure set in the Middle East. If you enjoy stories of terrorist intrigue and modern heroism, this new novel is a must.

Clare Darcy fans will find her latest novel of Regency England an engaging tale, filled with intrigue and romance. "Eugenia" features a lively young heroine.

"Last Reveille" by David Morrell is a blend of fact and fantasy. It's the fictional saga of Miles Calendar, American soldier, Indian fighter, and Mountain man set against the background of Pancho Villa's historic raid on the New Mexican border.

Laura Conway combines a knowledge of psychology and storytelling in her new novel of psychological suspense. "Dark Dream" will cast a hypnotic spell on the reader from beginning to end.

A new mystery writer makes his debut with "Diehard." Jon Jackson introduces Detective Mulheisen to solve the complicated murder of an executive's wife.

With competition in the job market becoming more vigorous, the job applicant with the ability to express himself clearly will have an advantage. A group of new books are available to help you up-grade your reading, writing and spelling. "Twenty Days To Better Spelling", "Reading With Speed And Confidence", "The Art

Of Readable Writing", and "Say What You Mean" are among the group.

An example of saying what you mean in the right way, "A Pageant Of Poems" by Loretta Smith Brown is the work of a former Circleville woman.

We are up-dating our collection of health books. Many advances have been made in the treatment of diseases. New books geared to helping the patient understand the ailment as well as new approaches in treating it are among the new titles.

Interesting titles in general health books may also be of help. "The Health Robbers" by Stephen Barrett discusses the many ways people are exploited by health care information. This book should benefit both your health and your pocketbook.

Diets seem to be becoming a national pastime! For the dieter who wants all the facts, "Rating The Diets" by Theodore Berland is a Consumer Guide evaluation of the major diet plans.

"Take Care Of Yourself" by Donald Vickery, M.D. is a guide to proper medical care and better understanding of some of the more common medical problems.

"Awake! Awake! Alive!" by Lydia Bach is a program of exercises for the vital body.

For some interesting background reading in medical history, "Epidemics" by Geoffrey Marks tells the story of epidemic disease from biblical times to the present.

"Plagues And People" by William H. McNeill describes the dramatic impact of infectious diseases on the rise and fall of civilization.

There's something on both ends of the age scale. Lendon H. Smith, M.D. is highly respected as a pediatrician. His latest book, "New Wives' Tales", sums up the most common misconceptions about child-rearing, surveying the latest pediatric findings.

"Learn To Grow Old" by Paul Tournier deals with a problem that none of us can hide from. Having learned how to grow old, you may want to check out "Crafts For Your Leisure Years" by Cora Bodkin.

Come see us soon. We'll be happy to help you choose the right book for your needs.

Relic Search Fun, Profitable

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — For John C. Heuston, the American Civil War is not necessarily over. It's just gone underground.

Heuston, in his spare time, looks for long-lost battlefields, entrenchments and campsites. When he finds one, he scours the ground with a metal detector for relics the armies of blue and gray may have left behind a century ago.

Some of his finds are valuable, but Heuston doesn't dig for riches.

"It's a thrill to pick up something from the ground that's been there for 100 years," says Heuston, who works for Arkansas Power & Light Co.

"We're historians who go out into the field," he said. "We're not out there just for the relics, but to study the history. Our purpose is to try and rediscover such things as old military roads, battle sites. A lot of our stuff has been given to historical societies and museums."

"You can occasionally find old ration cans, old parts of rifles, pistols, sometimes a bayonet, canteens, pocket knives and uniform insignia. Just about anything a soldier carried, he might have dropped or left behind. It's unbelievable the kind of stuff these people threw away."

Heuston says there were hundreds of armed clashes across the South during the war. Many sites have never been discovered, although they may have been mentioned in war records. The more popular sites, he says, already have been "heavily, heavily hunted."

Heuston stays away from the state park battlefields and those administered by the National Park Service. He also deplores outlaw relic hunters who defy the park service and dig where they're not wanted. "They give everybody a bad name," he says.

Heuston says a lot can be learned from relics still on the major battlefields.

"These relics provide valuable information, but they are deteriorating rapidly," he says. "In another 10 or 20 years, there won't be much left."

Not every venture into the field yields a Civil War artifact. Many are wild goose chases. Treasured finds, on the other hand, are belt buckles, uniform insignia buttons and pieces of armament.

Union belt buckles are uncommon, he says. They can bring $20 to $40, depending on condition. Confederate belt buckles are rare and command $200 and up.

The pre-Civil War Arkansas militia belt buckle is among the rarest of the rare. "They are priceless," says Heuston. Only three are known to exist. The buckle was not of Confederate issue.

Freddie Prinze Will In Probate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The will of comedian Freddie Prinze, which has been filed for probate, leaves three-fourths of his estate to his mother and the remainder to his year-old son, Freddie James Prinze.

The will, filed Thursday, was dated Dec. 21, eight days after Prinze's 26-year-old wife, Cathy, filed for divorce. Both she and the late comedian's father, Karl Preutzel, are excluded from the will and neither has contested it.

See Model Cars Race At Boy Scout Show

Pickaway County Boy Scouts will display their skills to the general public in a continuous show from 12 noon to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday, March 26, at the County Fair Grounds Grange Building.

Participants include troops and dens from Five Points, Tarlton, and Ashville, as well as Circleville. Twenty-one units involving over 250 Scouts will be present. It will be the largest assemblage of Scouts ever gathered in this district. Circleville Kiwanis Club is the sponsor of Saturday's activities.

Featured will be the District Pinewood Derby, a Cub project promoted by Pack 170. Model cars will race down a 20 foot incline, and the winning car will be determined by competent judges and timers. The traveling Pinewood Derby Trophy will be awarded to the fastest car.

Other special events are the Scout Camping Exhibit, a React and Rescue Exhibit, and Order of the Arrow Dancing. There will be exhibits featuring camping, hiking, and pioneering. Ribbons will be presented for participation and best of show.

The Scout Show provides an opportunity for members to see what their fellow Cubs and Scouts are doing, and to encourage them to sharpen their own skills in many directions. Parents of prospective Scouts will be able to observe and evaluate the Scouting program.

District committee members are Blois Grissom, chairman, Hal Whitfield, and Jim Shank.

MEDICAL DREAM — This is an X-ray photo of the Model VII left ventricular assist device (LVAD) which the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute says was implanted in a

'Flu Shot Disease' Still Around

DENVER (AP) — Joseph Lima, 29, has not been able to speak for 16 days. His eyes are fixed in a stare; he can't control his eyelids. He is unable to eat or walk. He breathes through a surgical hole in his throat.

Lima was hospitalized March 7 with the paralyzing Guillain-Barre syndrome. He received a swine flu vaccination Nov. 12, a month before evidence of its connection to Guillain-Barre halted the $135 million national vaccination program.

Lima's case was not reported to either the Colorado Health Department or the national Center for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta. "The vigor of the surveillance effort dropped off after the end of January," said the state Health Department's chief epidemiologist, Dr. Tom Vernon. At the CDC, spokesman Bob Alden said the CDC is no longer "aggressively seeking a continuing reporting system."

Because of slackened reporting of the syndrome, no up-to-date figures are available on new cases. But there is evidence that Guillain-Barre continues to strike, even after an eight-week incubation period suggested by federal officials.

New consent forms for the partially revived swine flu program warn that there is a chance of contracting Guillain-Barre within eight weeks of vaccination. Lima was affected 15 weeks later.

When Lima, a microbiologist at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital outside Denver, received his shot, the consent form then in use warned of possible tenderness in the arm, adding "some people will also have fever, chills, headaches or muscle aches within the first 48 hours."

Almost four months later, when Lima was admitted to Presbyterian Hospital March 7, he complained of numbness and speaking difficulty. By morning he was unable to speak.

Two days later Lima wrote a note to his nurse saying he was having difficulty breathing. A tracheotomy permitted him to breathe through a hole in his throat.

Doctors say Lima will recover in time. Lima, fed intravenously, has not lost his sense of humor — commenting on his writing pad that the "food is a bit bland."

The mid-March CDC report, admittedly less comprehensive than those prior to Jan. 31, says 875 cases of Guillain-Barre have been reported nationwide since Oct. 1. Of these 442 had received one of the two swine flu vaccines; 401 had received no type of flu vaccine; 14 had received other influenza vaccines, and 7 had received a swine flu shot after the paralysis had already begun.

The vaccination history of the other 11 is unknown.

The same figures show 35 deaths, including 18 who received swine flu vaccine.

Elderly Unite As Crimefighters

NEW YORK (AP) — Two old ladies set up a card table and a CB radio in their lobby, do their knitting and ask everybody their business.

Indignant old people fill a courtroom, watching the trial of a young man who allegedly mugged an elderly woman.

Old people go shopping, escorted by high school students to protect them from muggers.

Old people even learn self-defense.

The police can't do it alone. So senior citizens in New York and other cities are joining the fight against crime.

"There will never be enough police in the streets or in the buildings to stop crime. We must use people themselves and their neighborhoods," says Commissioner Alice M. Brophy of New York City's Department for Aging.

"If they don't want to live as prisoners, the elderly have got to help themselves. They've got to be careful of themselves, watchful of others and willing to report crimes," says Detective Gerard Keegan of the Senior Citizens Robbery Unit in New York's Bronx.

"We're trying to get them mad and solicit their help," he says.

And so, around the country, many anticrime efforts have been un-

Billy Graham

Opens Crusade

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has kicked off his first "hometown" crusade since 1953.

The Montreat, N.C., native's sermons are expected to draw more than 12,300 persons daily to this mountain city. The crowds are being handled in the civic center, an auditorium and a nearby Roman Catholic Church.

Graham scheduled this crusade in 1973 at the invitation of Dr. John W. White, pastor of Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Asheville and chairman of a primarily black delegation which backed the invitation.

Graham's opening sermon Wednesday was entitled "Roots."

Country music recording artist Johnny Cash and his wife, June Carter Cash, were special guests at the first night of the crusade, which ends Sunday.

dertaken by and for the elderly:

Block and lobby patrols, safety lectures, self-defense, home security, special police units, escort services, free whistles, support services for crime victims and court monitors who watch trials of criminals who prey upon the aged.

The New York State Senate recently passed a bill requiring juveniles to be tried in adult court if they commit crimes against the elderly.

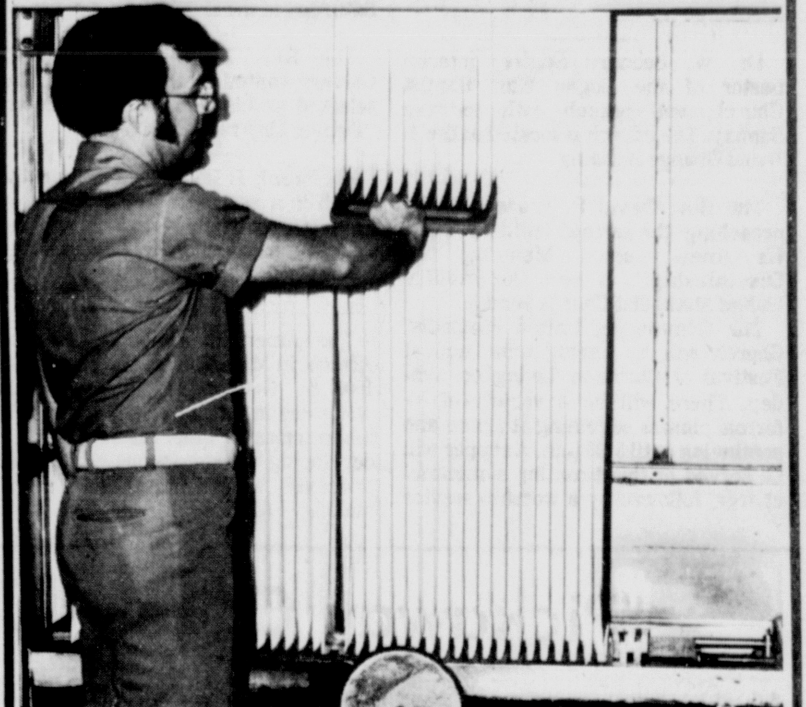

In New York City, a major attack on the attackers has been launched by the Bronx Senior Citizens Robbery Unit.

Formed in 1974, it was one of the first of its kind, and serves as a model for the rest of the country.

With almost filial attention, it investigates crime against old people. The police make numerous house calls, contact victims' relatives, freeze bank accounts, even take victims to and from court.

In the Queens community of Far Rockaway, senior citizens form street lobby patrols to report suspicious persons. About one-third of the population of 60,000 consists of senior citizens.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any question concerning the benefits of Veterans Administration should contact the Veterans Service Officer, at 219 S. Court St.

(Q.) What is the current interest rate on National Service Life Insurance policy loans?

(A.) Five per cent.

(Q.) I have signed up for a correspondence course that is VA approved but I'm having second thoughts about the course. If I cancel, am I liable for the contract?

(A.) A contract for enrollment must be affirmed by the student more than 10 days after the contract was signed. If more than 10 days has expired and you have signed the affirmation agreement, you can be charged for a portion of the course.

(Q.) I have a VA educational assistance check that I am not entitled to. What do I do with it?

(A.) Return the check to the Treasury Department or to the nearest VA Regional Office, or bring it to your Veterans Service Office, if you have one locally.

(Q.) As a veteran, may I use the G.I. Bill for correspondence courses?

(A.) Yes. If you are eligible for benefits and the correspondence course is approved for VA training, the VA will pay 90 per cent of the cost of the course.

(Q.) How will I receive my VA education benefits if I enroll in a correspondence course?

(A.) Payments are made quarterly on a prorated basis for the number of lessons completed and certified by the school to the VA.

Carter, Family Plan Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and his family will spend Easter at the Calhoun, Ga., home of his son Jack. Carter said Thursday that the family would fly to Georgia on April 8 and return to the White House two days later, on Easter Sunday.

Chatting with reporters after his broadcast news conference, Carter also disclosed he plans to join Adm. Hyman Rickover for a demonstration cruise aboard a nuclear submarine sometime in May. He said he had told Rickover, "I don't want a big military entourage" tagging along.

Animals which are hibernating are often so stiff and unresponsive that they look as though they are dead.

Farmers Await Trade Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sugar growers pressing for government relief from low prices and competing imports should watch what President Carter does with shoes, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland advises.

The issue was to have gone before the Cabinet's economic policy group on Monday. Bergland said he had it removed from the agenda and asked that planned Senate hearings on it be postponed until May.

He said that the United States will be attending an international conference

House Measure Gives Tax Help

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Married couples filing joint state income tax returns would get a better break under a bill now pending in the House.

Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, and 13 Republican cosponsors introduced the measure Thursday. Gov. James A. Rhodes said in his "State of the State" message to the legislature he would support such a bill, but didn't fund it in his executive budget.

Under the Norris bill, lower tax rates are provided for joint filers in each tax bracket starting at one per cent and ranging up to 3.5 per cent. All incomes below $5,000 are taxed at .5 per cent.

As an example of how it would work, a couple filing jointly with income of $12,000 annually would incur a tax bill of $92.50, compared to $115 for a single return on the same amount of income.

On $20,000, the figures would be $175 and $137.50, respectively.

The Wabash River was dammed in 1837 to make Grand Reservoir for the Miami-Erie Canal, and the project for the lake, now called Grand Lake St. Marys, took eight years under a work force of 1,700 men who were paid 30 cents a day and a jigger of whisky. The Mercer County lake has been a state-owned public recreation area since 1915.—AP on sugar trading at the end of April and either hearings or a decision by him could "blow the whole meeting out of the water."

The question of whether to impose restrictions on imported shoes to protect U.S. manufacturers from foreign competition is the first of three similar proposals about to be decided by Carter.

Bergland told a reporter Thursday, "I'm going to take my cue from what he does on shoes before I make any recommendations on sugar, and you can make a pretty good guess from that, too."

After the sugar decision comes the issue of restrictions against Japanese-made television sets.

The secretary said that his own guess is that Carter will refuse to bow to demands for a protectionist trade policy, as harmful to the long-range trade interests of the United States.

Republicans on the House Agriculture Committee, where he testified, say they suspect Bergland will try to meet beet and cane sugar producers' calls for help through a back-door subsidy. It would involve a never-used World War II provision of the basic agricultural act.

Sugar prices have dropped in the last year, although not to their traditional levels, while costs have risen sharply.

One reason is too large a world harvest last year, despite production cutbacks, Agriculture Department industrywatchers say. Another is reduced consumption because a year-long period of skyrocketing prices in 1975 broke many of sugar-buying habits.

Many in the industry complain that a third factor is the 1975 death of the 40-year Sugar Act, which among other things applied strict, congressionally negotiated quotas against sugar imports.

As a Minnesota congressman last year, Bergland unsuccessfully tried to reinstitute a sugar law.

Others have picked it up this year, but Bergland's top aides acknowledge it has no chance of passage this year because of memories of the 1975 tripling of retail prices and its profits for growers.

Whatever is finally decided, Bergland told Rep. Alvin Baldus, D-Wis., "I am not going to recommend legislation that installs restrictive tariffs in place in perpetuity."

He said later his advisers are still looking for ways to provide short term relief to sugar farmers without hurting the budget, boosting consumer prices, provoking trade barriers abroad or asking for new legislation.

Band Boosters Plan Meeting

Persons interested in the Circleville Junior and Senior High Band programs should attend the Circleville Band Booster meeting 7 p.m. Thursday in the high school band room.

A major topic for discussion will be the purchase of new uniforms.

The next event for the Boosters will be the smorgasbord to be held in conjunction with the Circleville High School Concert Band's Spring Concert April 29 at the high school.

Witness Says Leach 2-Gun Man

CLEVELAND (AP) — West Virginian Ashby G. Leach held a gun in each hand during a nine-hour siege last year at Chessie System's downtown office building, a prosecution witness testified Thursday.

But after Leach saw a live nationally televised news account of the incident Aug. 26, he "laid down the shotgun and said we were free to go," railroad executive Robert O. McGowan told the court.

Leach, 31, a Vietnam veteran from Huntington, is being tried on 13 state charges of kidnaping and three other felony counts stemming from his efforts to talk with officers of the Chessie railroad. The former Navy combat medic has said he wanted to further a yearslong campaign to have his former job approved for veterans training benefits. He had worked twice as an apprentice machinist in Chessie railroad shops in Huntington.

Chessie officials said they met with Leach a number of times on the question and concluded it would not be in the best interest of the firm or apprentices to register the job for veteran benefits.

McGowan, president of resources for the railroad holding company, was the fourth witness to trace events they said occurred on the 36th floor of the Terminal Tower building.

They told of Leach holding a sawed off shotgun in one hand and a pistol in the other, of their being herded into a file room, of hearing two shots as a chandelier was shattered and a radio silenced, both by gunfire. They reiterated Prosecutor Ray Gricar's charge that at one point Leach said "perhaps he should shoot one of the hostages and send him down the elevator."

Never underestimate the power of the press! For several weeks we have been trying to locate an authentic source for taking the code markings and were not having much success. Then we wrote about our attempts in last week's column and that very evening we had a phone call relating the information that there is a genuine need for the markings and urging us to continue encouraging all of our readers to save them. So the word from here is "Keep up the good work".

Our source is a school teacher who prefers to remain anonymous. We can certainly understand her wishes not to be interrupted at her school. I shall be willing to be a collection center and so will Dora (Mrs. John Jr.) Moss, 212 S. Allen St. 986-5361 of our town. John Steinhilber, 1028 Georgia Rd., Circleville had offered and so has Mrs. Wolford of the Red Cross, however, I have been too busy to contact either of these persons in recent days to let them know of present developments. Same goes for Mrs. Eugene Hanson.

Will try to be in touch by next column. Commanding much of my attention this week are final plans for the Sunday canvass on Shares of the Square and our upcoming Deercreek Dam Days Festival.

A huge sign proclaiming the site of the Community Square has been erected, courtesy of the artistry of Rose Evelyn McDill. A thermometer measures the growth of contributions and after Sunday's canvass we hope to see the "red mercury" shoot all the way to the $20,000 top.

Contributions stand at $6,390 with the latest contributors being: Mrs. Jack Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Barnes, Barnes Farms, Inc., Barnes Farm Drainage, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Metzger, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Puckett, Anna and Sheryl Cox, Mrs. Harry Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Snyder, Ullman Flowers, Esther Wardell, Ruth E. Captains are still needed for the areas of Judas Rd., Thompson Rd., Route 138 SW; Route 138 SE Kinderhook; Hunsicker Rd., Rector Rd., Westfall Rd.; Chillicothe Pike, Hatfield Rd., Peck Rd. Anyone willing to serve please phone me at 986-3481.

Festivalwise we urge everyone to submit recipes NOW for the supplement chapter to our Festival cookbook. Deadline is March 31 and that is just around a windy corner, you know.

Anyone interested in displaying and selling arts and crafts at the Deercreek Dam Days Festival is advised to contact me soon as possible. No jewelry can be accepted but other items are welcome. Displays will be in the Pavilion. We would suggest reservations be made early as space is limited.

John and Edna West arrived back home this week from a nice visit with their daughter Jeannette, her hubby Jack Lovensheimer and their images Brian, Craig and Lisa at Florence, South Carolina. A real highlight and thrill was traveling on to Greenville, South Carolina for a concert performed by the South Carolina All State Band at the Music Center of Furman College. A member of that select band is ninth grader Brian who plays the tuba. This is quite an honor and accomplishment for a junior high student. How proud his family can be of him!

Esther Picklesirfer is with Dave and Janet Lovett and T.D. at The Plains. Dave is scheduled to undergo surgery one day this week.

Our perky little neighbor Una Higman is back home after being with daughter Peggy and son-in-law Jack Armentrout and family at Fremont.

Twila West has been discharged from Berger Hospital and is recuperating nicely at her home, it gives us great pleasure to report.

I have had the nicest letter from Mary Jane and Dale Elliott and family. The Elliotts moved from our community a short time ago and settled in Atkin. They sold their farm here to Scott Skinner and purchased a larger one at their new location.

Mary Jane writes of how different the lifestyle is there even though basically a farming community much as Pickaway County is. She especially wanted all their former neighbors, friends, family, school and business associates and club groups to know how very much they all appreciated the many things done for them in the process of making the move. They thank each and everyone who gave so kindly of time and energy before, during and after their auction sale. They cherish the fond words of farewell and the gifts and will forever have happy memories. They still have one strong tie here

Nuclear Power Cost Beneficial

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — A representative of Public Service Indiana says nuclear power will produce needed electricity at a cost 30 per cent lower than a coal-fired facility. John U. Butt, PSI licensing manager, was among witnesses Wednesday at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's hearing on the utility's request to build a $1.6 billion generating station along the Ohio River 10 miles downstream from Madison.

Financial experts hired by Kentucky's attorney general testified a coal generating station would be about 20 per cent cheaper than uranium during the next 30 years.

There are between 500 and 600 species of eucalyptus found in Australia.

Fish Fry

April brings the showers that brings May flowers so we hear but in my book April brings something even better and that is the American Legion Post 618 annual Fish supper. On April 2, serving will begin at 5 p.m. and continue until everyone has a full tummy (or they run out of fish). It will be an All-U-Can-Eat dinner with baked beans, cole slaw, beverage and a side dish on the table. Or if a sandwich is your preference that will be served, too. For quick service on sandwiches it is suggested that customers go to the side door of the fire house which is right smack next door to Legion Hall. Sandwiches can be prepared for take home or bring them in to the Legion Hall and eat with gusto.

Why don't we all plan to support the Legion boys that night because proceeds from the fish fry will be used to defray expenses of sending two deserving young men of the district to Buckeye Boys State and that is an investment in the leaders of our future. You just can't spend your money for anything better than that! I'll be there (don't forget the rye bread, fellows). Will I see you?

Another important April date to have marked on the calendar is the ninth. First of all that day will be the local Jaycees Consignment Sale. They, too, are a hard working organization that deserves all the support they can get. After going to the sale take home your supper purchases and then get ready and to the Monroe Men's Club Gospel Show at Westfall High School for a marvelous evening of soul inspiring music that will take away your burdens. Better get your tickets in advance so you can save a tidy sum. Advance tickets will be sold until just a short time before the performance. We have given places where the tickets can be obtained in previous columns. Will repeat next week.

We had a letter from our darlings Ruth "Sweetpea" Shipe and Grandma Phoebe Smiley this week. Both are O.K. (their words.) Please remember that Grandma Smiley will have a birthday March 31 and it will be her 103rd!!!! Everyone send her a card. The address: Mrs. Charles Smiley, 3911 Guyton St., Macon, Ga. 31206.

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care. Think About: All the super cool things I have asked you to do in the column this week and then DO THEM!

Eight Lettermen Return For Tiger Baseball This Season

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Sports Writer

A graduation-riddled pitching corps faces the Circleville High School baseball coaches as preparations step up for the April 2 home opener doubleheader against Bishop Ready.

"We graduated four pitchers last year," stated Head Coach Tom Cole, "our number one pitcher who returns is Brian Fath, and we're counting on him." Fath proved last season that he could be dependable, as he posted a 0.37 ERA for the season.

Seven other lettermen join Fath, and for all eight it will be their final season. Coming back to his position behind the plate is catcher Brad Allison. The Tigers' most improved player in 1976, Allison will be the hub of the Tiger defense, according to Cole. He also led the team in RBIs, knocking in 23 runs in 26 ballgames. Allison cracked the ball at a .318 clip too.

Another big bat that returns for the Tigers is Bret Allen, a right fielder who batted to the tune of .367 last season. Cole also said that Allen will see action on the mound.

Bo Barthelmas returns to be the Tigers' first-sacker. "Bo does a good job for us defensively," stated Cole. "He is very much improved with his glove."

Jamie Hickey is yet another monogram winner who returns to bolster the Circleville nine. He is slated to split his time between the outfield and duties behind the plate.

Bob Fuller returns to the middle of the Tiger defense at the shortstop position. He is another player who Cole lists as having improved defensively.

Merle Logan, a sophomore letterman, returns to the Tigers after a season of inactivity during his junior year. Logan is slated to see action in the hot corner, and will also play occasionally at catcher and pitcher.

Outfielder Gary Combs is the final letterman to form the Tiger nucleus. He is an outfielder.

Allen Ranck and Tom Scherer are two infielders who could very well see action for the Tigers this season also. Both are seniors.

Juniors capable of logging playing time include Toren Bensonhaver, who will don the Tiger baseball uniform for the first time this year. He is slated for action on the mound and at first base.

Jeff Meena will return to the outfield and Cole is hoping that he brings back the respectable bat he had last season. Others are Joe Mogan at the second sack, and Scott Sanders who will add to the Tiger mound crew.

Eric Berger and Dave Beckley are outfielders for the Red and Black, and another second baseman for the Tigers will be Dave Cherrington.

The coaching staff stated that 51 persons expressed an interest in baseball, and 30 people were kept for the season. 15 men will be included on the varsity, and 15 will see action on Coach Ty Ankrom's reserve squad. The bulk of Ankrom's team will probably be sophomores, 13 of whom are included in the total 30 players in the program.

Those men are Brian Sealock, second base; Jeff Strawser, first base; Butch McFarland, pitcher and shortstop; Rob Spangler, second base; Mark Ranck, shortstop and second base; Tony Bobbitt, third base; Tom Logan, pitcher and catcher; Kevin Woltz, pitcher and outfielder; Jerry Mogan, first base; Pat Poorman, catcher and second base; Monte Schaffer, pitcher and outfield; Butch Pontious, third base; and John Harr, pitcher.

In the league picture, Cole says that the South Central Ohio League should "be pretty balanced, with Washington C.H. and Madison Plains fielding the strongest teams."

The Blue Lions bring back eight starters, the best of which would have to be Jeff Elliot, a junior southpaw hurler who was tabbed All SCOL as a sophomore. Right behind Elliot is Scott Johnson, a senior this year who was also All SCOL last season and served duty on the mound and at first base for the Blue Lions.

The Golden Eagles of Madison Plains welcome back three pitchers and seven starters. That group is led by Pete Sullivan, an extremely strong pitcher.

Cole also says to watch for Wilmington and Hillsboro, who should be pretty strong in 1977. "Overall, I'll say the league will be real balanced. There are some good teams in the picture. And we'll be in there too if we can get our pitching in shape," says Cole.

As far as non-league competition is concerned, Cole says that "Logan Elm is stacked with talent, and Pickerington should also be good this year." And the Tigers open against Bishop Ready, always a power on the Central District AA scene.

Circleville Youth Baseball registration will be held 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the lobby of the police station.

Registration is open to anyone who will be 8-years-old before Aug. 1 and 15-years-old by Aug. 1. Birth certificates are required for those registering for the first time.

League officials ask that any uniforms still out from last year be returned Saturday.

Tri County League To Meet

The Tri County Baseball League will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Logan Elm High School. All coaches should plan to attend.

Cole and his charges are hoping to enjoy another season like last year's. After the 1976 campaign, the Red and Black posted an 18-8 record, the most wins in a season by a Circleville baseball team, according to Cole. The Tigers also copped their first SCOL championship since 1972, and they were sectional champions, as well as runners-up in both the Central District AA and Pickaway County Tournaments.

Allen Rhodes will be Cole's manager, and serving as statisticians for the Tiger baseballers will be Terri

Strawser, Alyse Berger, and Theresa Isaac.

Here is the complete schedule for the Circleville baseball team for 1977. The weekday games all start at 4:30 p.m., with the Saturday games starting at noon.

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

Spring is here! As far as I'm concerned, Spring is always here. The green season arrived in Pickaway County at 12:43 p.m. Sunday.

The swallows have returned to Capistrano, the buzzards have returned to Hinckley and the Pike Hole Creek has begun to flow from Whisler. As the first warm days bring back the spring fever — which I can never seem to shake — Pickaway County sports fans can take the opportunity to bask in the warm air and sunshine while watching their favorite team participate in springtime activities.

There will be plenty to do and see as girls and boys from Westfall, Logan Elm, Circleville and Teays Valley are tuning up their muscles and form in preparation for the opening of the baseball, softball and track seasons.

At each school there will be boys track, girls track and boys baseball. Logan Elm, Circleville and Teays Valley also have girls softball teams. Circleville's boys tennis team is getting in shape with hopes of several leaps over the net before the season is through.

If the Saturday morning spring cleaning and gardening has you worn out by noon, you can relax by taking in a doubleheader at the local diamond or watch the cinderman kick up the dust around the turns.

The kids work very hard and would sincerely appreciate a good turnout to their contests. What better way to enjoy a pleasant afternoon?

This week's coffee shop questions: Isn't Pete Rose every bit as valuable as Joe Morgan and, if not, can Joel Youngblood fill the gap to the satisfaction of the team, the owners and the fans? Also, will Willie the Dillie find that the loss of the big bopper, Tony Perez, and the big stopper, Don Gullett, will lead him to predict a national league pennant for the Phils? Turn to this page next Friday when Willie will say Until next time, have a nice day. Be a good sport.

Three New Events In Mid-Ohio's Season

A thrilling 1977 road racing season with three new events and $215,000 in posted awards has been announced by Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course President-General Manager Les Griebeling.

The season kicks off June 4-5 with the Third Annual Mid-Ohio 200 featuring the $25,000 Camel GT Challenge and $12,500 Executive Motorhome Challenge series races sanctioned by the International Motor Sports Assn.

For the first time in Mid-Ohio's 16 years, motorcycles will compete on the twisting 2.4 mile road racing circuit with the American Motorcycle Race of Champions on July 3-4 sanctioned by the Western-Eastern Roadracers' Assn. More than $15,000 in prize money will be awarded the top finishers in the large variety of classes which will include sidecar racing and the big 750cc. all-out racing cycles.

The Sports Car Club of America's SuperNationals amateur or "club" racers return to Mid-Ohio on July 16-17 for their annual Summer outing with more than 300 drivers anticipated to try for 24 class wins in 10 races.

The biggest event of the Summer will be the $75,000 return of the Valvoline Canadian-American Challenge series with the world's fastest sports cars racing for 201.6 miles. Once again, the Can-Am series at Mid-Ohio, a series sponsored by Citicorp Services Inc., will be sponsored by the Valvoline Oil division of the Ashland Oil Co.

An entirely new race, the IMSA American Challenge series, will share the Can-Am weekend bill with a 150-mile race for $20,000 in prize money available for the drivers of the American intermediate-size cars with engines up to 366 cu. in. Open-wheel racing fans will not be disappointed on the Can-Am weekend as there will be a $12,500 Robert Bosch VW Gold Cup on tap for the professional Super Vee drivers, and a $5,000 VW Scirocco Cup race will round out the weekend.

The top 10 Camel GT and Executive Challenge finishers from June 4-5 will once again get the first 10 starting positions on Aug. 27-28 as both series return to Mid-Ohio for the Sixth Annual Mid-Ohio Six-Hour races—three hours in each series with $37,000 and $13,500 purses respectively.

LaFleur Sets New Record; Montreal Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the pressure is off, Montreal right wing Guy Lafleur just wants "to continue playing well."

He could not be playing much better. The Canadiens' superstar scored his 53rd goal of the season at 5:57 of the third period Thursday night, collected his 126th point of the season and broke a National Hockey League record by scoring a point in his 23rd consecutive game.

"I was glad to get the point," said Lafleur, whose goal touched off a three-minute standing ovation from the Montreal Forum crowd of 16,829 and highlighted the Canadiens' 6-1 triumph over the St. Louis Blues.

The Philadelphia Flyers blasted the Bruins Thursday night, beating Boston 6-2 in a penalty-filled game, while the Atlanta Flames improved their hold on third place in the Patrick Division by defeating the Detroit Red Wings 3-1.

In the World Hockey Association, the Indianapolis Racers edged the Quebec Nordiques 4-3, the San Diego Mariners topped the Birmingham Bulls 6-2 and the Edmonton Oilers edged the New England Whalers 5-4.

NATO Dispute Seen Over Planes, Tanks

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Harold Brown sought the support of Western European defense ministers today for the purchase of nearly $3 billion worth of Boeing patrol-command planes to give Western Europe speedier warning of Soviet Bloc troop movements and air attack.

Brown appeared optimistic on his arrival for the meeting of the defense ministers of the North Atlantic allies. But there were signs of opposition from West Germany, which with the United States would pay more than half the bill.

Some West German officials were balking because of Washington's reluctance to build a common U.S.-German battle tank around Bonn's new Leopard II tank.

The new American XM1 tank was to have used the Leopard's 120mm gun, while the Leopard would use the American tank's engine. But U.S. defense officials have let it be known they consider the Leopard inferior and want the Germans to adopt the XM1.

The U.S. plan for the Airborne Warning and Control System, or AWACS, was first proposed in October, 1975. It calls for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to pay about $100 million each for 27 Boeing 707s equipped with special radar that would look hundreds of miles into the Soviet bloc to detect troop concentrations and movement of planes.

The big jets would also serve as airborne command posts for combat operations from aloft.

Under the latest proposals, the United States would pay 28 per cent of the cost, West Germany 26 per cent and the other allies the remainder. The Germans said they wanted to hold their share at 25 per cent or less.

The AWACS plan is the first to give ownership of weapons of war to NATO itself, rather than having them held by the alliance's individual countries. The proposed arrangement raises questions of legal liability. NATO Officials explained that it is not clear, for example who would be legally responsible if one of the planes crashed, killed civilians and damaged private property.

France and Greece did not send representatives to the meeting today because of their limited participation in NATO military activities, but U.S. officials said they hoped the two nations would participate in the AWACS program in some indirect fashion.

SEAEVER RETRIEVER — New York Mets pitcher Tom Seaver stands with his dog, Penny, as the pooch returns with a ball during spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla. Seaver has Penny trained to return any loose ball on the field, keeping him well supplied with baseballs during the practice session.

Veep's House Said
Just Like Minnesota

WASHINGTON (AP) — One benefit of living in the stately quarters of the vice president, says Joan Mondale, "is that our children's table manners have vastly improved."

Another, she said, is that the house, situated high on Observatory Hill, "reminds me of every house we lived in in Minnesota. The wind has that same, high-pitched whine. Last night it blew out a window."

Mrs. Mondale's comments were made Wednesday afternoon at a buffet lunch for members of the press. They had been invited to view the American art collection she has assembled from numerous museums around the country, primarily from the Midwest.

The art is on loan to her for a year.

But art was a minor topic. The question was about life in the Admiral's House, the vice presidential mansion, and about being a part of the vice president's family.

She said the Mondale family, which includes Teddy, 19, Eleanor, 17, and William, 15, usually gathers at home for dinner. "But if I don't have breakfast with my husband, he goes off with the front page of the paper, and I can't stand it."

Teddy has a job selling motorcycles in suburban Maryland "but he wants to go to college," she said. Eleanor is a junior at the private Georgetown Day School, and William attends the exclusive St. Albans School for Boys.

Mrs. Mondale takes weekly art classes in pottery. "You know you've made it as a potter when your pots are good enough to give away. I gave one to Rosalynn (Carter) in Plains on July 8, and I miss it. Rosalynn has it on her mantlepiece there."

At 46, Joan Mondale strikes strangers as a warm, friendly woman, quick to laugh and eager to put guests at ease. Standing on the stairway landing, just above an armful-size arrangement of fresh forsythia, magnolia and cherry blossoms, she gave a stiff little talk about the history of the 86-year-old house.

But later, over spinach souffle, she relaxed as she related personal anecdotes, punctuating many sentences with exclamations of "fantastic" and "isn't that neat!"
